

Dan Joyce, PhD, Director CDRF. Dan Joyce is the Director Emeritus of the Kenosha Museum Campus and Research Archaeologist at the University of Wisconsin Parkside. He has been a museum professional and archaeologist for over forty years. He has completed archaeological field work in New Mexico, Texas, Louisiana, Alaska, Yukon Territory, Illinois and Wisconsin. He is co-discoverer with Dave Wasion and Ruth Blazina-Joyce of the Schaefer mammoth, a 14,300 year old mammoth kill site. He has worked on numerous projects including a historic trading post, Potawatomi village, Fort Crawford, and an 1835 settlers cabin. He loves to build things - canoes, kayaks, woodworking, blacksmithing and more. He also enjoys the outdoors more than the indoors

Civil War And the Upper Midwest

To schedule a presentation, contact: Dan Joyce at djoyce@campdouglas.org or info@campdouglas.org.